Some good farmer brought a bag of very fine potatoes to The Herald office but failed to give his name and address to the office boy. A man who can grow such splendid potatoes ought to let his neighbors know it and we trust that he will send us his name.

Calls at the Red Cross Home Service office have been so few this month that it seems advisable to close the office for the present. It will be open for a while on Saturday afternoons, and anyone having business there can either come at that time or see Mrs. L. Cottingham at her home.

The Herald was in error last week in saying that McLaurin and Thompson would sell their car load of sugar at a profit of 5 cents a pound. It should have been 5 per cent. on the cost. This correction is made in justice to these gentlemen who do not want to be placed in the "profiteering" class.

A five room cottage belonging to Mr. J. H. Reaves was destroyed by fire early Thursday afternoon. Mr. Reaves' residence next door caught fire several times and was saved from destruction by the arrival of the fire truck. The cottage caught between the ceiling and roof and the volunteer firemen were unable to check the blaze with buckets. The fire alarm at the power house was out of order and it was some time before the fire truck arrived. The cottage was a total loss.

RESOLUTIONS OF RESPECT.

Miss Octavia McKinnon. Whereas, God in His infinite wisdom has removed from our midst our beloved sister and co-worker, Miss Octavia McKinnon, who was a faithful and devoted member of our Ladies Aid Society.

Therefore, be it resolved. First, That while we miss her kind greeting and gentle, cheerful manner, we bow in humble submission to the will of Him, who doeth all things well.

Second, That we commend to all the members of our society and church, which she loved so well, her life of marked devotion and self sacrifice to the cause of Christ, and that we will endeavor to follow her example of faithful, conscientious service and seek to catch inspiration from her life.

Third, That we extend to the bereaved relatives our sincere sympathy. Fourth, That a copy of these resolutions be placed on the minutes of our society; a copy be sent to the bereaved relatives and also one to the Presbyterian Standard and Dillon Herald for publication.
